Ky Names Ten To Viet Junta

Buddhist Extremists Excluded

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime nominated a slate of 10 civilians today to join the 10-man ruling junta but excluded Buddhist extremists opposing the government.

The list included some moderate Buddhists, Roman Catholics and representatives of the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao sects. But the absence of any militant Buddhists pointed to the imminent danger of a collapse of the political truce between the regime and the unified Buddhist Church.

Wind Up Campaign In Calif. Primary Race

By BILL BOYARSKY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Actor Ronald Reagan and his opponent, George Christopher, speed across California today, appealing to the uncommitted as they wind up their campaigns for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

At stake was the job of leading the Republican party—a minority in the nation's most populous state—back to the control of the state Capitol.

Brown, facing primary opposition from Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty in his try for a third term, called it "one of the most important elections this state has ever held."

Besides picking nominees for statewide office, the 7,855,102 registered voters will be confronted Tuesday with candidates for legislative offices.

Of the 601 candidates, many will be seeking new State Senate seats in populous Southern California. A court-ordered reapportionment will transfer control of that House from the rural areas of the north.

Reagan chose the office seeker's standby, the airplane tour for his final effort in the primary race.

Christopher, former San Francisco mayor, also campaigned by plane, stopping at some of the places on Reagan's schedule. The polls showed him behind, but he said, "There are a lot of 'don't know' people," referring to the undecided voters.

Defeated in his past bids for lieutenant governor and U. S. Senator, Christopher says he is the only Republican who can defeat Brown in November.

"Pat Brown has a vested interest in the status quo," he said in remarks prepared for delivery to a Los Angeles news conference.

As the welfare rolls swell, so does seemingly limitless supply of patronage, bureaucratic waste and pork barrel," he said.

Christopher's air tour dropped down to the blazing hot Southern California community of El Centro Sunday. A small crowd heard him say: "This is the dirtiest campaign I've ever seen."

Asked if he would support Reagan, Christopher replied: "I've made no promises to anybody now. I'm a free agent. I have no obligations except to my wife and family."

There was nothing but good cheer on Reagan's tour Sunday. He aimed at Democrats in the general, party-unity manner that another Hollywood personality, George Murphy, used in his successful race for the U. S. Senate two years ago.

Even before the government published the list, the Buddhist Institute said: "This cannot solve anything but only increase the opposition from the people." A spokesman said the Buddhists wouldn't join the government if asked.

The ruling generals drafted the list of civilians several hours before a deadline agreed on last week in negotiations between moderate Buddhist elements and the Ky regime to end the political crisis.

The list submitted by the junta was revised this afternoon by the 34-man Armed Forces Council, part of the governing military apparatus, then sent back to the junta for approval.

The Buddhist Institute, in a communique, repeated demands for the resignation of Ky and the chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu.

"If the two generals still remain in power with only superficial changes in the junta, it cannot solve anything but only increase the opposition from the people," the communique said.

To a Santa Ana crowd estimated at 5,000, he once again said he is not searching for a "political victory but a moral crusade."

"What we intend is a society based on the people's respect for the law and the government's respect for the people," he said.

With the Buddhists, it appeared in for a surprise from the Electoral Commission it named to prepare the ground for the Sept. 11 elections for a Constitutional Assembly.

During a long debate Sunday night, 27 of the 32 commissioners were reported in favor of letting the assembly turn itself into a governing legislature after it drafts a constitution.

This would shorten the life of the military regime considerably and preclude the second round of voting for a legislature which Ky plans. The premier said last month that he probably wouldn't be able to step down until the middle of next year.

However, the junta could reject the commission's recommendations.

While the politicking went on in Saigon, there were these developments in the war:

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne Division, together with Vietnamese and South Korean units, ended Operation Crazy Horse after almost 21 days of off-and-on fighting against the Communists in the rugged central highlands 270 miles north-east of Saigon. The reported enemy toll was 516 Viet Cong killed, 31 captured, 119 suspects detained and 15 crew-sized and 88 individual weapons captured.

Over-all allied losses were light but there were heavier casualties in the early stages, a U.S. spokesman said.

A Communist ambush wiped out a six-man U.S. Air Force survey team in a truck about 15 miles south of the 17th Parallel frontier with North Viet Nam. There was no trace of the attackers, who staged the ambush in an area where political turmoil has diverted Vietnamese troops from action against the Communists.

Vietnamese troops destroyed a Viet Cong jungle ammunition factory in the Mekong Delta's Phong Dinh Province after four skirmishes with the Communists.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that Samuel H. Sheppard, Ohio physician, did not receive a fair trial in the bludgeoning slaying of his first wife, Marilyn.

Justice Tom C. Clark, announcing the decision, said the court had concluded "that Sheppard did not receive a fair trial consistent with the due process clause of the 14th Amendment."

The court, therefore, Clark said, reversed a 2-1 decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati, which found no evidence of federal rights.

Clark concluded his opinion by saying the Sheppard case must go back to the U.S. District court in Ohio and that court must order Sheppard released from custody "unless the state puts him to its charges again within a reasonable time."

Justice Hugo L. Black noted a dissent.

His decision was "definite and positive."

Early in 1952 he said he was a Republican and indicated he would run for president if he received a "clear cut call to political duty." The call came, he answered it and spent eight years in the White House.

Adlai E. Stevenson, who was to be the Democratic presidential nominee twice, once took exactly the same attitude as Romney's present one.

After President Harry S. Truman said in March 1952 that he would not be a candidate for reelection, Stevenson was asked if he might be a candidate.

"I am a candidate for governor of Illinois and nothing else," he replied.

Stevenson remained the reluctant man in public attitude. Even as the convention was meeting, he said, "If it be possible let this cup pass me."

Goldberg Briefs Senators

U.S. May Seek UN Supervision Of Viet Elections

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg briefs senators today amid indications the United States may bid for General Assembly action to supervise South Viet Nam's proposed elections.

Goldberg, who has encountered stiff opposition within Security Council circles to Saigon's request for U.N. observers, scheduled a luncheon with about 15 senators. Most of the 15 are considered liberals and some have criticized President Johnson's course in Viet Nam.

Goldberg called Sunday for a "mutual cessation of all types of hostilities" in Viet Nam and urged that a new Geneva conference be held to reaffirm 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements for peace in Southeast Asia.

In a commencement address at the Catholic University of America here, Goldberg also said the United States was prepared to abide by the results of reunification elections contemplated by the 1954 Geneva agreement "whatever these results might be."

Today's informal exchange of views between Goldberg and the group of senators was arranged by Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, who expected most of the discussion to center on the role the United Nations might play.

Auto Mishaps On Illinois Roads Claim 15 Lives

Auto accidents this past weekend on Illinois roads and highways resulted in a least 15 fatalities.

In accidents Sunday: James Hall, 17, of Champaign, was killed in the head-on collision of his car and another car two miles south of Rantoul. The other driver, Mrs. Cora Kirts, 29, of Urbana, and her two infant children suffered only minor injuries.

George A. Schroeder, 28, Round Lake Beach, was killed when his car struck a tree along U.S. 132 west of Lindenhurst.

Norman Talman, 43, Cicero, was killed when his car struck a utility pole in the Chicago suburb.

Four-year-old Jeffrey Armendariz of Broadview was struck by a car and killed on a South Side Chicago street.

A Clinton man, Larry Strange, 21, was killed in a head-on collision on Pipeline Road near Lake Bloomington.

A high school junior from rural Washington, Gary Lee Oertle, 17, was killed in an auto collision near Morton in Tazewell County.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hannigan, 38, Orland Park, was killed on Chicago's Southwest Side when the auto in which she was riding hit a traffic standard.

Willie Washington, 58, Edwardsville, was killed when his car collided with a truck on Illinois 143 west of Edwardsville.

Albert Larsen, 40, Bensenville, died Sunday in a Chicago hospital. He was injured Saturday when the auto in which he was riding collided with an ambulance at a Northwest Side Chicago intersection.

On Aug. 2, 1957 Coolidge declared, "I do not choose to run for President in 1958."

Yet efforts to draft him persisted right up to the Republican convention in June 1958. The argument of the would-be drafters was that not choosing to run didn't mean that he wouldn't accept a nomination.

Coolidge never expanded on his statement.

Graham, British Atheist Debate Existence Of God

LONDON (AP)—Billy Graham debated the existence of God with a British atheist Sunday night.

The American evangelist said his faith was "not only grounded in tremendous evidence" but proved by the "laboratory of personal experience."

The panel discussion took place on the British Broadcasting Corp. before an audience estimated at four million.

The atheist, Ian Tipton, a university instructor, asked Graham, "How do you know you are not wrong about the existence of God?"

"Because I have had a personal experience with God," Graham replied.

Another panelist, satirist David Frost, son of a Methodist parson, asked Graham what proof he could offer for others.

Graham answered: "When Jesus touched the blind man, and he was healed, the blind man couldn't explain what happened. When a person comes to Jesus Christ, he can't explain what happens. But enough people have experienced it for me to know it happens."

If there existed a personal, benevolent God, Graham was asked, how could he explain war, disease and natural calamities.

"The Bible has the complete answer for all that," Graham replied. "Man is struggling against God. He is spiritually diseased. War is just the lust from his heart. Jesus said that out of the heart flows all these evil things."

"When man sinned and rebelled, all nature was affected. It is part of God's judgment."

"But what happens when a deformed baby is born?" Frost asked. "How can you say which events God is responsible for and which ones He is not?"

"There are many mysteries I can't pretend to answer," Gra-

Recovery Ship Plucks Pilots, Craft From Sea

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla.

(AP)—The Gemini astronauts rode the Gemini 9 spaceship to a perfect safe landing in the Atlantic Ocean today, climaxing a sensational, often-troubled flight highlighted by Eugene A. Cernan's record space walk.

Millions of television watchers had a ringside seat as the four-ton ship, blackened by the fiery dash back through the earth's atmosphere, splashed into the sea at 10 a.m. EDT about 345 miles east of Cape Kennedy—just four miles from the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The thrilling picture of the craft floating down under its orange and white parachute was beamed from the deck of the Wasp via the Early Bird satellite.

It was the first time that a manned U.S. spacecraft had landed close enough to a recovery carrier to permit the live televising of the landing.

Gemini 9 astronauts Thomas Stafford and Eugene Cernan were lowered—still inside their spaceship—to the deck of the aircraft carrier Wasp, today home safe from a historic three day space voyage.

Command Pilot Thomas P. Stafford, whose cool, on-the-spot decisions played a key role in the flight, skillfully steered his tiny ship through a blazing re-entry dive and "parked" it in the Atlantic Ocean "on the mon-

He had an assist from an easterly wind that helped blow the craft back toward the carrier. A helicopter was overhead within seconds and Navy frogmen leaped into the water to attach a flotation collar to the bobbing craft.

The divers reported Stafford and Cernan gave the "thumbs up" signal through their spacecraft window as it bobbed in the four- to five-foot waves.

They appeared in excellent condition, the divers reported.

The astronauts elected to stay in the spacecraft until the Wasp came alongside.

The spacecraft hatch was opened nine minutes after touchdown and Stafford and Cernan stood up. Stafford shook hands with the swimmers.

It was a successful and dramatic end to a flight which had its ups and downs, with one problem after another plaguing the mission before and after the launching.

During 72 hours and 21 minutes in orbit, Cernan and Stafford circled the globe 45 times and traveled nearly 1.2 million miles.

Their fiery return to earth started 160 miles above the Pacific Ocean near the international dateline when the craft's four retro-rockets fired with a jolt at 9:26 a.m. EDT.

The braking action slowed Gemini 9's 17,460-mile-and-hour speed by 300 miles and the craft, caught in the grip of earth's gravity, began the meteoric plunge back through the heat barrier of the earth's atmosphere.

Mission Control Center reported after the landing that the communications through the 34-minute re-entry period were better than on any of 12 previous U.S. man-in-space flights.

Only during a four-minute period when 3,000-degree heat shrouded the spacecraft in an ionization curtain was contact lost with the pilots.

"Have you got us in sight?" Stafford asked as Gemini 9 drifted down on its 84-foot chute.

The aircraft carrier Wasp advised that it did and added: "The whole world has you in sight."

The sailors on the Wasp crowded the deck as the big carrier turned to approach the spacecraft in the water and haul it aboard. They were cheering the astronauts riding in the mild seas.

8,943 NEW MEDICS LICENSED IN 1965

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association announced today that 8,943 licensed physicians were added to the U.S. medical profession last year, 1,032 more than were newly licensed in 1964.

The AMA's Council on Medical Education said there were 292,088 physicians in the U.S. as of Dec. 31, 1965. This includes 239,623 licensed physicians, a net gain of 5,286 over the previous year when adjusted for deaths and retirements.

The 52,465 unlicensed physicians include many interns and residents, military and government—service doctors, some medical educators, administrators and retired physicians.

Of the newly licensed physicians, 7,445 attended U.S. and Canadian medical schools and the remaining 1,488 were graduates of foreign medical schools.

Groping For Right U.S. Role In Asia

According to Senator Fulbright, it is an "arrogance of power" that has led to this country's involvement in Viet Nam.

To most people, such a statement reveals little more than a disarming "arrogance of righteousness" on the part of the speaker. Yet whether it is attributed to arrogance or to genuine altruism or to something in between, the massive infusion of American arms, men and wealth into South Viet Nam has had effects, not only upon that tiny country but upon all of Southeast Asia, which unfortunately sometimes work against our real aims.

The weight of American involvement in Asia is not an expression of arrogance, says John D. Rockefeller III, but it does constitute "an American overpresence that often depresses Asian initiative, disrupts Asian traditions and irritates Asian sensitivities. . . . It is an imbalanced relationship of receiver and donor, or protege and protector."

In South Viet Nam, while the presence of so many Americans is vital to the preservation of the country, it has contributed to inflation, has had a corrosive social effect and has aroused a great deal of resentment, says the chairman of the board of the Rockefeller Foundation, who is also chairman of the Asia Society and president of the Japan Society.

To correct this "overpowering impact of America on Asians," Rockefeller recommends that the United States take a regional approach to Asia's problems. We should give priority to development programs such as flood control and electric power that would cross national boundaries.

We should also support more mutual assistance among Asian countries, encouraging the flow of capital between them and the sharing of skills.

Rockefeller's words are far more constructive than the angry obfuscations of a Fulbright. They are certainly more perceptive than the opinion expressed by former ambassador to India John K. Galbraith that, "If we were not in Viet Nam, all that part of the world would be enjoying the obscurity it so richly deserves."

The difficulty, however, is how to implement such a supranational, co-operative approach in a primitive, undeveloped area that is divided among a congeries of peoples and nations and factions within nations and steeped in ancient prejudices and parochialisms, not to mention undertaking it in the midst of war and in the face of the overt aggressions and covert ambitions pursued by the Communists.

American "overpresence" in Asia may be lamented, just as President De Gaulle laments its existence in Europe. But in both cases, it came into being only when the threat of communism called it forth.

Without that "overpresence" in Asia today, no one could even talk of power plants, capital flow and mutual self-help — nor could the Buddhists, Catholics and military in South Viet Nam indulge in the luxury of fighting each other over the ownership of a house that is burning down.

Were we not there, that part of the world would be enjoying an obscurity, but not one that it deserves. It would be an obscurity colored red on our maps and as ominous and foreboding as a mushroom cloud over a remote Chinese desert.

Wheat Crop Is Hurt

Americans are not much used to the idea of big crop failures anymore. Partly because most of us now live in town, and partly because we are geared to accepting abundance as our normal way of life, we tend to be caught off guard by word that a major U.S. crop has suffered major damage.

That is the situation, now, in the big wheat states. As the harvest moves north from Texas and Oklahoma into Kansas, the crews will be getting in millions of bushels less than had been anticipated. Earlier in the year it was predicted that America would have a bumper wheat crop this year. A sharp downward revision of this forecast is now in the cards.

Many citizens' reaction to this news may be some variant of the old cry to the government to "do something!" Any who feel like uttering that cry might as well save their breath. When drought strikes a vast area of the plains, stunting plants in fields that should be billowing with high grain, there is nothing much the government can do — except, that is, to ease the blow to farmers by emergency aid where necessary.

In this instance, drought is the second blow; first, in Kansas, there was killing frost. As a result of this one-two punch, wheat production may fall well short of building up our present depleted surplus to a comfortable level again.

This raises the question whether the United States will have to cut back on foreign shipments of wheat, notably to India. It also ought to focus our thinking on a broader question: Should we not change the emphasis on wheat surpluses, regarding them as a positive long-range benefit rather than a fretful burden? The present setback for wheat production is a reminder that even in this day of advanced farm technology there can be lean years as well as fat.

Dear Ann:

Long Distance Calls Tax Budget

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a working man and has always made a modest salary. We have managed to raise and educate our four children by following my mother's rule: "Eat it all. Wear it out. Sew it up. Do without."

Now that the children are on their own, things could be a lot easier financially, except for one thing. My husband goes on a drinking spree every two or three weeks and places long-distance telephone calls to friends all over North America. He calls people he hasn't seen in years, like his old Marine buddies. I can tell by his end of the conversation that some of these people don't even remember him.

Furthermore, I can't get it through his head about the different time zone. We live in Santa Barbara. Last night he called a buddy in Buffalo at 11:00 P.M. and wondered why he didn't get a big hello. He got mad and yelled, "How do you like that jerk—sleeping at 11:00 o'clock?" I tried to explain that while it is 11:00 o'clock in California it is 2:00 A.M. in New York. He said I was crazy.

It burns me up that I have to hunt for bargains to save a few pennies on canned goods while my husband squanders hundreds of dollars on drunken nonsense that he can't even remember the next day. Please tell me what to do. —VERY ANNOYED

Dear Very: Ask around and determine if any of your local friends have husbands who are similarly afflicted. The boys could form a group known as Telephone Drunks Anonymous. When they get stiff they can call each other up and talk their heads off. This would be a heckuva lot cheaper than calling Buffalo.

If you can't turn up anyone, try waving last month's phone bill before his bloodshot eyes when he begins to go off the deep end. It might help — depending on how smashed he is.

Dear Ann Landers: I had an appointment with my doctor today and something happened that upset me terribly.

When the nurse left the room I picked up the doctor's chart. I had read only a few sentences when the nurse rushed back into the room, snatched the chart from my hands and shouted, "You are NOT supposed to see this!"

I said, "Why not? It's about ME, isn't it?" The nurse did not answer. She went to the doctor and told him that I had begun to read the chart and had gotten angry when she took it away. The doctor sided with the nurse and I blew my top. I told him if I couldn't see the chart I didn't want to see HIM either. He said, "If that's the way you feel, goodbye."

Please tell me if this is a common practice or if my doctor is just plain mean. —EAU CLAIRE, WIS.

Dear Eau Claire: I know of no physician who allows his patients to see the charts—and for very good reason.

A chart contains the doctor's impressions and suspicions. A patient might interpret these notations as a final diagnosis and be unduly concerned.

If you described the nurse's behavior accurately she was unnecessary rough with you. I think she owes you an apology—and you owe the doctor one.

True, your parents won't be able to bug you as in days of yore, but marriage carries with it some crushing responsibilities. What you have in mind could mean a more restrictive type of "imprisonment." Cool it, Sister.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Washington Buddhists Opposing Ky Have Few Viet Followers

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There are some facts to be set straight in the current anti-Ky government "Buddhist" movement in Viet Nam.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, the man the "Buddhists" are opposing, is himself a Buddhist.

New spot-door-to-door surveys conducted in rural Viet Nam show that Vietnamese Buddhists are a minority of the country's population. In all, they probably account for less than 20 per cent of the people.

The Buddhists, then, are not the overwhelming majority that has been claimed.

Even the 20 per cent figure tends to give exaggerated numerical importance to the Thich Tri Quang and associated groups. The Buddhists themselves are divided.

Best revised estimates are that the militant groups associated with the antigovernment movement, including their followers and disciples, add up to considerably less than 10 per cent of the population of South Viet Nam.

Older claims had categorized South Viet Nam a Buddhist country with disciples totaling 80 per cent of the people.

The new surveys show a different picture.

Most villagers were found to have a religion that is a mixture of folk religion, Taoism, animism and Confucianism.

Three-fourths of this group, when asked, called themselves Confucianists. Some said they had no religion. This combined group comprises about 42 per cent of the people.

The Catholics in South Viet Nam, their numbers swelled by refugee Catholics from the north, probably account for 14 per cent of the population.

The Cao Dai, an independent religion with admixtures of Christianity and Buddhism, includes 9 per cent of the population.

Followers of the Hoa Hao, another local religion, are 3 per cent.

The native mountain hill tribesmen, with a primitive religion of spirits, are 4 per cent.

The Chinese total 8 per cent.

A group of about 3 per cent follow the Cambodian form of Buddhism, quite different from the usual Vietnamese type.

There are assorted Brahmanists, Moslems, Protestants.

This leaves about 17 per cent of the population following one of the major Vietnamese divisions of Buddhism. About half of these are nominal Buddhists.

They personally follow a combination of religions, of which Buddhism is one. That is, the same man may perform Buddhist, Taoist, animist rituals and attempt to follow Confucian family precepts.

Thus the Buddhist groups which have joined loosely in the present political movement and its associated rioting probably have as active and passive disciples from 8 to 10 per cent of the men, women and children of South Viet Nam.

The activists are a very small percentage of this small group.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson tried to play it cool while critics of the Viet Nam war raised the temperature and now opinion polls indicate a dwindling confidence in the way he handles his job.

There are other reasons for what seems to be a growing disenchantment.

But the poll results must be disturbing to a man who likes to feel he has broad public support for his actions before he acts.

Consensus, he calls it. He had it in 1965, a calmer time than this.

In that first year after his election Congress, overwhelmingly controlled by Democrats, listened to him dutifully and responded with the most productive legislature year in history.

He isn't having the same sleighride now. In the meantime two things above all happened: The United States got up to its neck in Viet Nam, where factional chaos sometimes makes American help look ludicrous, and the criticism of American involvement and Johnson's leadership took on big dimensions.

Johnson had a choice. He could have tackled his critics head on—say with a detailed explanation to the nation on television—or let his top aides do the answering.

He chose the second course which has been much less than fully effective.

His own explanations have been in bits and pieces in speeches and news conferences, sandwiched in among other things, and his aides, trying to state the administration's case to Congress, got banged and interrupted by critics.

Perhaps Johnson hoped as weeks and months passed the war would take such a happy turn that the critics, and the doubts and discontent set ablaze by them, would be rendered meaningless. Instead the war got worse.

This failure of Johnson to handle his critics directly may turn out to be one of his greatest mistakes. Yet Johnson, like other conscientious, hard-working men, is extremely sensitive to criticism.

But Congress is also sensitive —about the voters—in an election. (Continued On Page Seven)

Rising food costs make economy meals a necessity in many homes today. But no economy meal can be a good meal, really, unless it supplies adequate amounts of essential foods and provides eating enjoyment for the family.

Eggs are always an economical item for economy meals. No waste, lots of protein and a wide variety of ways to use—"as is"—in prepared dishes, in meat loaves and in desserts.

SAUCE: Mix cornstarch and sugar and add to apple juice. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Serve over souffle.

VARIATION: Serve with a topping of ice cream instead of sauce.

Bottled or canned foods should be stored in a cool place as high storage temperatures lead to more rapid loss of vitamin content. Also the flavor deteriorates. Glass containers should be stored in the dark to avoid fading of the food colors. Acid foods may be used cold straight from the can. Heat nonacid foods thoroughly before eating. It takes 20 minutes of boiling to destroy the botulism toxin.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Patience Goes a Long Way In Building Self-Confidence

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
M. D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some children are more susceptible to teasing than others just as some are more inclined than others to be bullies. If your child is unduly upset by teasing this would suggest that he feels insecure. Building up his self-confidence can't be accomplished overnight but with patience much can be done.

Often a child who has been teased becomes upset because he senses that you are disturbed over the situation. Your first step then must be to make sure that you view his problem casually. You must avoid rushing to his defense or scolding his tormentors but rather instruct him how to deal with bullies by himself.

If he is being teased by his own siblings you may want to deal with them later in private but even this often backfires and must be done with wisdom and tact.

The quickest way to resolve the problem is to find a nursery school where your child can be with others his own age and learn the lessons of give and take that he will need throughout his life.

Q—Since a fever is the body's way of fighting an infection, why doesn't the disease disappear when the fever leaves? Should a child be allowed to run a low-grade fever (101 or 102) without the aid of aspirin or alcohol rubs?

A—When the fever leaves the body there may still be millions of body cells that have been damaged by the infection. It takes time to replace these and reduce inflammation.

Efforts to make the sick child more comfortable, prevent dehydration, conserve his strength and avert convulsions. If the temperature is not over 102 there is no need to worry about it but a close check on it should be kept because it may shoot up very quickly.

The best way to combat a high fever is to sponge the child with lukewarm water or rubbing alcohol. Most doctors advise against the use of aspirin to reduce the fever in a child because sometimes it is not readily eliminated and poisonous concentrations build up in the child's blood.

Q—Whenever my 5-year-old son gets a cold he gets a sore throat. The doctor says it's tonsillitis. Is this serious? How can I tell whether it is the start of rheumatic fever?

A—If along with a sore throat there is a fever and the tonsils are swollen and inflamed your son has tonsillitis. This usually subsides within a few days with good nursing care — bed rest, small doses of aspirin and plenty of fluids. The diagnosis of rheumatic fever is based on symptoms and laboratory tests and is best left to your doctor.

We, the Women

History's Greatest Handover Is No Bargain

By RUTH MILLETT

The British psychiatrist who got Americans all stirred up by flat-footedly stating that women had taken over the United States now says he was wrong in one detail.

American women haven't taken over, he has decided. "What has happened is that American men have turned over everything to their wives. This is the greatest handover in history."

"You bet it is. Men have handed women the responsibility for bringing up the children. But at the same time they have handed them the term 'Momism' and the full blame for whatever is wrong with the young."

Men have handed women the family's second car. And with it goes the job of being family chauffeur, car-pool driver and errand-runner.

Men have handed women the right to hold down a job after marriage, and with it, my mail indicates, the dubious pleasure of helping to provide their husbands with such luxuries as expensive hunting and fishing equipment and trips, boats, sports cars and almost anything their hearts desire that one paycheck couldn't provide.

Men have handed women the right to make most family decisions and with that right comes the inevitable blame when things go wrong.

Men have handed women the right to help them climb the success ladder and with it the responsibility for having to present the image of the perfect wife, mother and hostess to her husband's superiors in the organization for which he works.

Men have handed women the right to outside interests of their own and with it the understanding that such an indulgence lets the men off the hook at home since a woman who can get out in the daytime doesn't need a husband to talk to at night. He can just tune in the television set and tune his wife out.

It's the greatest handover in history, all right. But what wife wouldn't like to hand it back?

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cannon

A former Jacksonville couple, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cannon of Grafton, Illinois, will observe their golden wedding anniversary on June 10th. The Cannons will be honored at a reception from two to four o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 12th, at the Grafton School cafeteria. Children of the couple are hosting the event.

Lotie (Peg) Sellers and John E. Cannon were married June 10, 1916 by the Rev. F. F. Formaz, at Our Saviour's church. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. William Sellers, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cannon of Jacksonville. They spent the early years of their marriage in Jacksonville. Mr. Cannon was in the produce business with his father.

They are parents of four children, John William, killed in action in World War Two; Edward L. of Ottaville, Ill.; Leonard R., Phoenix, Ariz.; and Joann, wife of David Wallace, Godfrey. There are 13 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Friends and relatives are cordially invited to the reception. The couple's wedding attendants are expected to attend, Mrs. Lois Swanton, sister of Mrs. Cannon, who resides in New Port Richey, Fla. and William Hennessey of Jacksonville.

That's A Pun, Son

Always Has 2 Feet Out Of Bed

By JAMES CALOGERO

BOSTON (AP)—Henry Hite, who travels from city to city, always calls for his hotel reservations far in advance and asks for twin beds "end to end."

"This never fails to startle reservation clerks," Hite said on a recent Boston visit. "Eventually I explain I stand 8 feet 2 in bare feet."

"In a normal bed I'd be two feet out of it. That's a pun, son," Hite says that in most hotels workers bolt together twin beds lengthwise and seamstresses sew sheets and blankets together, again end to end.

Hite travels around the country for a meat-packing firm (Wilson), making personal appearances in supermarkets. He gets home to Chicago as often as he can to spend a little time with his wife and visit his clothing and shoemaker.

His wife, the former Maria Bertoli, a one-time Chicago dancer, stands 5 feet 3. "This is no gag," says Hite. "We've been happily married for 30 years."

Hite's clothing uses 8½ yards of material for a single suit "and you just don't go into a bootery and ask for a size 22 shoe."

Another problem is movies, which Hite enjoys. One time, he says, "a woman in the seat behind me tapped me on the shoulder and asked me to please sit down. I'd been sitting there for a half-hour."

Hite was born Henry Mullins in Atlanta, Ga., 51 years ago. He has seven sisters and five brothers, none of whom is over 5 feet 11. His mother was 5 feet 4 and his father 5 feet 8.

Hite says that by the age of 12 he already was 7 feet 2 "but I stopped growing at the age of 16. For a while I was growing an inch a week. I'd go to bed in long underwear and get up in the morning in shorts."

He adds: "At the age of 11, my family took me to a specialist for a pituitary operation, but I wouldn't go through with it because I was told the hair on one side of my head wouldn't grow back in. And now look, I'm bald anyway."

Hite played high school basketball and football in Atlanta. His teams never lost a game. "In basketball," he says, "I used to shoot down into the basket and in football I made a first down every time I tripped."

MANCHESTER CADET AT SUMMER CAMP

Cadet James C. Gordon, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Gordon of Manchester, will attend Reserve Officer Training Corps summer camp at Fort Riley, Kan., starting June 25. He is a student at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

During the six-week encampment, he will receive advanced training in the military subjects he has been studying at school.

Cadets are trained in various subjects which will provide them with the skills necessary to command. On completion of the ROTC program, graduates may receive commissions as second lieutenants and may choose any branch of the Army.

Cadet Gordon is a 1963 graduate of Winchester High School.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss ... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that it not only stopping hair loss ... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

JOURNAL COURIER HONOR ROLL

James R. Scupham

James McClure

G. Richard Spencer

Bruce W. Willoughby

Richard N. Armstrong

Michael W. Landess

Six members of 1966 graduating classes became members of a special Journal Courier honor roll last week when they received their diplomas. The six young men completed four years of service as carrier boys. All six received a U.S. savings bond upon graduation in appreciation for their long service.

James Robert Scupham, 18, of 1600 Lincoln Avenue graduated from JHS and decided to continue his employment with the Journal Courier. He is currently training as an apprentice in the mechanical department. While in school, Scupham delivered papers for three years, worked in the mail room and for the past nine months in the composing room of the newspaper. He is the son of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Scupham and makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cooper, 1600 Lincoln.

Glenn Richard Spencer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Spencer, 308 Finley, carried a Courier route in his neighborhood four and one-half years. He graduated from JHS and plans to attend University of Illinois in the fall and major in civil engineering. He lists slot racing and fishing as hobbies.

Richard Neal Armstrong, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Armstrong, 901 Edgehill, carried a Courier route in his neighborhood four years and graduated from JHS last week. He plans to attend Western Illinois University this fall. He lists amateur radio as a hobby and is interested in electronics engineering. He is working at Passavant hospital for the summer.

Michael Wayne Landess, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Landess of Milton carried a morning Journal route in Milton four years. He attends Milton Christian church and plans to attend Southern Illinois University at Carbondale to major in Journalism.

Bruce Wayne Willoughby, 18, son of Mrs. Zilpha Meyer, 414 East Lafayette, graduated from JHS last week and carried a Courier route in his neighborhood four years. He played in the band and was a member of the honor society. Bruce plans to attend the St. Louis IBM school later this summer.

James Wayne McClure, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McClure of Glasgow carried the morning Journal almost as a family tradition. The same newspaper route has been in the family for eight years, the first four carried by an older brother, Allen Lee. James lettered in football and basketball and attends Glasgow Baptist Church. He will enter Southern Illinois University this month and major in commercial art.

DEFYING GRAVITY—A small bar magnet seems to float in mid-air in a demonstration at the NASA Lewis Research Center at Cleveland, Ohio, where advanced magnetic research is under way. The bar is held up by interaction of its own magnetic field with the "superconducting" lead dish beneath it. Superconductivity is the loss of nearly all electrical resistance and total exclusion of magnetic field lines characteristic of lead, tin and some other materials at temperatures near absolute zero—minus 460 degrees. The lead dish was immersed in liquid helium at minus 452 degrees to achieve the gravity-defying effect.

BACCALAUREATE services featured an address by Dr. Kenneth E. Seim of Western Springs, Ill. The graduating class was seated front row, center for the occasion.

Peters Gets More Kicks From Work

Gary Peters is putting less kick into his work this season and getting more kicks out of it. Peters, who isn't lifting his leg as high this year, brought his foot down on Washington Sunday, pitching a two-hitter as the Chicago White Sox completed a sweep of a doubleheader with a 12-0 victory. They won the opener 4-1.

The start for Peters was his first in two weeks, since he strained the bicep in his left arm in the first inning of a game against Cleveland.

"It was the best game I've thrown in two years," said Peters, who didn't allow the Senators a hit until the seventh inning. The performance brought his record to 3-2 and his earned run average to 2.18.

It also gave him two complete games, one more than he had all of last year, and one shut-out, also one more than he had last year when he dipped from 20-game season in 1964 to a 10-12 record and a 3.63 ERA.

The 29-year-old left-hander believes a combination of bad timing and incorrect kicking affected his pitching last year.

While Peters is enjoying his pitching more, the rest of the White Sox staff is having fun, too.

Continue Shutout String

The shutout was the sixth in the last 10 games for Chicago, a period which has seen the pitching staff post an amazing ERA of 0.80. In that time, too, the White Sox have won eight games and moved from seventh place, 10½ games back, to fourth place, 5½ out.

Elsewhere in the American League Minnesota whipped Cleveland 9-4, Baltimore edged Kansas City 6-5 in the 12th inning of a suspended game before losing the regular game 9-4. New York downed Boston 5-3 and Detroit swept California 8-4 and 4-1.

In the National League San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 7-6 in 10, Los Angeles crushed New York 16-3 before losing 3-2, Pittsburgh defeated Houston 10-5, Atlanta walloped St. Louis 14-4 and Chicago stopped Cincinnati 9-5 after bowing 8-3.

Tommy Agee supplied much of the White Sox power, driving in all four runs in the opener with a homer and a triple and scoring three runs in the second game. Tom McCraw drove in three runs in the nightcap while Don Buford and Smokey Burgess each knocked in two.

Harmon Killebrew's fifth homer in six games snapped a 4-4 deadlock in the sixth inning and sparked Minnesota past Cleveland. The Twins added three runs in the seventh, two on Rich Rollins' single, Max Alvis and Leon Wagner homered for the Indians.

Cop Suspended Contest

A double by Sam Bowens and Russ Snyder's single in the 12th inning gave Baltimore a victory in the game suspended Saturday night because of a city curfew.

City Power Nine Edges Decatur In 9th Frame 8-7

A three-homer barrage, the last one a game-winner in the bottom of the ninth, powered Jacksonville City Power to a narrow 8-7 victory over Decatur in the opening game of the Little Eight League, at Nichols Park Sunday afternoon. Joe O'Donnell clubbed a three-run blast and Gary Spangenberg a two-run shot in a five-run first for the local nine, before Buford Green's second round tripper in the bottom of the ninth broke a 7-7 deadlock.

Rich Cobble went the distance for Jacksonville, giving up eight hits. Cobble settled down after a shaky four-run first, in which Decatur collected four of their hits, three tallies coming on a long homer by Roe Skidmore.

Jacksonville City Power is now 3-1 overall, 1-0 in the Little Eight.

Jim Bouton got relief help from Steve Hamilton and Pedro Ramos for his first victory since last June 30. Bouton, who tired in the seventh inning, singled across two runs in the Yankees' three-run sixth. Roger Maris hit a two-run homer for New York in the first.

Don Wert led Detroit past California, driving in six runs in the doubleheader. He knocked in four runs in the opener with a single and a triple and produced a key two-run single in the second inning of the nightcap.

Slumping Cards Perfect Remedy For Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Georgia country doctor couldn't have prescribed a better remedy for the ailing Atlanta Braves than the St. Louis Cards.

The Braves, winless in six starts, bombed the Redbirds 16-4 Sunday.

The pitching of St. Louis collapsed in the fifth inning as the Braves exploded for seven runs. Lefthander Al Jackson (4-4) was charged with the loss to Atlanta's Billy O'Dell (2-2).

St. Louis was nursing a 4-3 margin going into the disastrous fifth, but 224 hitter Denis Menke triggered the Braves' recuperation.

The Atlanta third baseman, hitting leadoff, paced a 16-hit game with five base hits, including three-run homers off Cardinal reliever Art Mahaffey.

Ten Braves marched to the plate before the Cards' third pitcher, Joe Hoerner, was able to retire a single batsman. A crowd of 18,942 watched the Braves complete the biggest inning of the season with five hits, three walks, an error and a hit batter.

The Cards scored on hits by Orlando Cepeda and Tito Francona in the second, Cepeda, Phil Gagliano and Jerry Buchek hit safely in the fifth to account for the Cards' 4-3 lead before the Braves bounced back.

The Cards are idle today.

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP) — Veteran Jimmy Nix, Oklahoma City, Okla., set an elapsed time record and then won the featured fuel eliminator class in the National Hot Rod Association's spring national drag races.

Nix set his elapsed time mark of 7.387 seconds Saturday, then sped 213.20 miles per hour Sunday to beat Ray Marsh, Wilmington, Del., for the fuel eliminator title. He drove a Dodge-powered dragster.

Other winners included gully eliminator, Mark Pieri, Rockford, Ill.

Stanky Admits Chisox Pitching Can't Keep Up

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox pitching staff, playing one of the hottest hands in baseball, can't keep it up and the first to admit it is Manager Eddie Stanky.

Sox pitching has been of such an unbelievable nature the past week that Stanky said, "I couldn't expect such performance as I had Lefty Grove, Bob Feller and Rube Waddell in their prime."

The Sox concluded a sweep of their four-game series with Washington Sunday with a double victory, 4-1 and 12-0, as Gary Peters hurled a two-hitter in the nightcap after holding the Senators hitless until the seventh.

That one run in the first game was the only one the Senators scored in their 36 innings at bat. It came off Joe Horlen in the first game on the seventh-inning triple by Ed Brinkman and a single by Fred Valentine.

At that point the Sox staff had a string of 29 scoreless innings but the week of spectacular pitching dates back to May 29 when Tommy John tossed a three-hit shutout against the New York Yankees.

The following day the Sox returned home for a doubleheader against Boston. John Buzhardt blanked the Red Sox on five hits and Jack Lamabe came back in the nightcap with a one-hit shutout.

String Continues

On May 31 Horlen hurled a brilliant game but lost 1-0 as Boston won its only game of the series.

The Sox split a two-game series with the Yankees when Juan Pizarro pitched eight innings of shutout ball only to have Mickey Mantle's ninth-inning homer spoil his bid for a whitewash.

The Yankees came back to win the second game of the series 5-3 but were held hitless by Chicago's bullpen in the final five innings.

Lamabe returned with an 8-0, three-hit shutout against Washington Friday night and Buzhardt was a 6-0 winner on four hits Saturday before Horlen and Peters came up with their winning jobs Sunday.

Travers Could Be Decisive Run For 3-Year-Olds

NEW YORK (AP) — The race for the 3-year-old championship has come full circle now. With Kauai King's defeat in the Belmont Stakes, it's once again a wide-open affair with at least four horses in strong contention.

The 1¼ miles of the Travers Aug. 20 could be the decisive race.

The championship first figured to be a struggle between Graustark and Buckpasser. Then Kauai King took command and appeared to have it all but wrapped up.

The situation changed Saturday when Reginald Webster's Amberoid posted a 2½ length victory in the Belmont Stakes and Kentucky Derby-Preakness winner Kauai King ran fourth.

Buckpasser returned to competition on the same Aqueduct card with an older horse.

With Graustark retired, Creme de la Creme, winner of the Jersey Derby and beaten only once, is the other member of the contenders foursome. He sat out the Belmont and is being pointed for the one mile of the $100,000-added Classic at Arlington Park June 25.

While Amberoid and Kauai King are taking vacations from a rigorous campaign, Buckpasser will be very active.

Eddie Neely has planned a busy campaign for Ogdin Phipps' 1965 2-year-old champion following his allowance victory in 1:05 1-5 for six furlongs. The son of Tom Fool, absent with a hoof injury since winning the Flamingo at Hialeah Park early in March, will make his next start in $35,000-added Leonard Richards at Delaware Park June 18 and then return to New York for the Saranac and Dwyer in July.

Amberoid's immediate plans are not definite but he may go west for the American Derby at Arlington Park Aug. 6. That's also Kauai King's next objective although trainer Henry Forrest indicated he might send the son of Native Dancer after the Arlington Classic.

After the Classic, Creme de la Creme is scheduled to return to Monmouth Park in New Jersey.

All trainers, however, have indicated that if everything goes well they'll be at Saratoga for the Travers.

Roy A Big Name For Yancey, New Open Champion

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Roy is a big name in life of Bert Yancey, new champion of the $100,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament.

Both were there Sunday when he needed them for his record-setting journey to a 15-under-par 265, lowest score on the 1966 PGA tour, and $20,000 in first-place prize money.

Roy Stone, a touring caddy, telephoned Yancey at the motel and told him he had only 10 minutes to reach the course to tee off on the final 18 holes.

Roy Sanders, Yancey's caddy during the tournament, talked strategy with the young Philadelphian and suggested the 2-iron shot which Yancey said was his best fairway swing of the day.

Yancey, trailing Gene Littler by one stroke going into the final round, fired a four-under-par 66 for a 265 total, one stroke lower than Cary Middlecoff shot in winning the 1961 title.

"I was putting really well," the 27-year-old Yancey said. He birdied five holes and had only one bogey.

Yancey slept late and then watched television coverage of the Gemini 9 space adventure until 20 minutes before time to tee off. The starting time had been advanced because of TV coverage of the tournament.

"At 11:10, Roy called me and said I was due off at 11:20," he said. "I was never so frightened. I just knew I had blown the whole works."

He reached the tee eight minutes before he would have been disqualified.

Littler, at 270, finished second and won $12,000.

Whitworth Trips Wright In Open

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "Mickey" great, but she's only human," said Kathy Whitworth, the 1965 women's professional golf leader, money winner. Then she vanquished Miss Wright in the $12,500 Clayton Federal Open Tournament.

After surging into the second round lead Saturday with birdies on the final two holes, Mickey Wright, idle during last season, bogeyed the first three of the last round and finished fifth with 208.

Miss Whitworth shot rounds of 68, 72, and 68 for a one-under-par 208 and a victory worth $1,875. She is now leading on the circuit with total earnings of $10,344 this season.

After the Classic, Creme de la Creme is scheduled to return to Monmouth Park in New Jersey.

All trainers, however, have indicated that if everything goes well they'll be at Saratoga for the Travers.

Cardenas, Stargell Just Miss Records

Leo Cardenas fell one homer shy of a record. He won't get another chance — without starting over.

Willie Stargell fell one hit shy of a record. But he will get another chance — without starting over.

Cardenas, Cincinnati's 160-pound shortstop, slammed four homers and drove in eight runs as the Reds split a doubleheader with Chicago Sunday, winning the opener 8-3 before the Cubs took the nightcap 9-5.

By hitting four homers in a twinbill, Cardenas accomplished a feat that hadn't been done since the 1963 season. But he still fell one shy of the five Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals hit in a 1954 doubleheader.

Cardenas won't get another chance, unless he starts another muscle-flexing streak, but Stargell still has a chance to match the National League and major league records for most consecutive hits.

The Pittsburgh slugger was interrupted by the end of the Pirates' 10-5 victory over Houston after collecting five straight hits, including two homers. And he still had a streak of nine consecutive hits intact.

When the Pirates meet St. Louis Tuesday night he'll get a shot at the NL record of 10 — last achieved by Cincinnati's Woodie Williams in 1943 — and the major league record of 12 — last reached by Walt Droppo of Detroit in 1952.

Elsewhere, Atlanta crushed St. Louis 14-4, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 7-6 in 10 innings and Los Angeles and New York split, the Dodgers cruising to a 16-3 victory before the Mets won the nightcap 3-2.

In the American League, Minnesota thumped Cleveland 9-4, the New York Yankees defeated Boston 5-3, the Chicago White Sox swept Washington 4-1 and 12-0, Detroit took two from California 8-4 and 4-1 and Kansas City belted Baltimore 9-4 after the Orioles had nipped the A's 6-5 in 12 innings in the completion of a game suspended Saturday night.

Cardenas provided all the runs the Reds' needed in the opener, driving five runs with two homers and a single. Ron Santo and Randy Hundley homered for the Cubs.

Cardenas also hit two homers in the nightcap and added a double while driving in three runs, but the Cubs came from behind and won it with a five-run rally in the eighth.

Stargell drove in four runs against the Astros with his two homers, two singles and a double leading a 16-hit attack that stretched the Pirates' winning streak to five. Roberto Clemente also homered while Jim Wynn hit a pair for the Astros in a 4-for-4 performance.

The Braves rolled to their third straight victory after a string of seven losses by unloading 16 hits against the Cardinals. Denis Menke led the outburst that included a seven-run fifth inning in which 13 men batted by driving in five runs with a homer and four singles.

The Giants tied the Phillies in the ninth on singles by Tito Fuentes and Willie Mays around a sacrifice, then won it in the 10th when Hal Lanier tagged reliever Bo Belinsky for a two-out homer. Dick Groat drove in four of Philadelphia's runs.

Sandy Koufax won the opener for the Dodgers with a five-hitter, joining San Francisco's Juan Marichal as the majors' only 10-game winners. Koufax was supported by a 19-hit attack that included five straight hits by Tommy Davis and two homers by Wes Parker.

Davis added two hits and Parker added a homer in the nightcap. But the Mets won it in the ninth when they pushed across a run on singles by Ken Boyer and Jerry Grote around an intentional walk, and a wild pitch by reliever Ron Perrano-ski.

Cardenas also hit two homers in the nightcap and added a double while driving in three runs, but the Cubs came from behind and won it with a five-run rally in the eighth.

Leo Cardenas fell one homer shy of a record. He won't get another chance — without starting over.

Willie Stargell fell one hit shy of a record. But he will get another chance — without starting over.

Cardenas, Cincinnati's 160-pound shortstop, slammed four homers and drove in eight runs as the Reds split a doubleheader with Chicago Sunday, winning the opener 8-3 before the Cubs took the nightcap 9-5.

By hitting four homers in a twinbill, Cardenas accomplished a feat that hadn't been done since the 1963 season. But he still fell one shy of the five Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals hit in a 1954 doubleheader.

Cardenas won't get another chance, unless he starts another muscle-flexing streak, but Stargell still has a chance to match the National League and major league records for most consecutive hits.

The Pittsburgh slugger was interrupted by the end of the Pirates' 10-5 victory over Houston after collecting five straight hits, including two homers. And he still had a streak of nine consecutive hits intact.

When the Pirates meet St. Louis Tuesday night he'll get a shot at the NL record of 10 — last achieved by Cincinnati's Woodie Williams in 1943 — and the major league record of 12 — last reached by Walt Droppo of Detroit in 1952.

Elsewhere, Atlanta crushed St. Louis 14-4, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 7-6 in 10 innings and Los Angeles and New York split, the Dodgers cruising to a 16-3 victory before the Mets won the nightcap 3-2.

In the American League, Minnesota thumped Cleveland 9-4, the New York Yankees defeated Boston 5-3, the Chicago White Sox swept Washington 4-1 and 12-0, Detroit took two from California 8-4 and 4-1 and Kansas City belted Baltimore 9-4 after the Orioles had nipped the A's 6-5 in 12 innings in the completion of a game suspended Saturday night.

Cardenas provided all the runs the Reds' needed in the opener, driving five runs with two homers and a single. Ron Santo and Randy Hundley homered for the Cubs.

tion year like this when all the House seats and one-third of those in the Senate are at stake. This explains in part why Johnson can't work the same magic with Congress in 1966 that he did in 1965. His requests are no longer being steam-rolled through and Congress is dumping advice on him from all directions.

His magic isn't the same elsewhere, either. Labor, which backed him in 1964's elections, sounds increasingly dissatisfied with his attempt to limit wage increases to 3.2 per cent a year.

Just a couple of weeks ago AFL-CIO President George Meany, more and more critical of Johnson's administration, announced: "I don't buy the idea that labor needs the Democratic party."

Negroes are pushing for more and more action, although Johnson while as a senator and president has done more to push through civil rights legislation than any man in this century.

Inflation, or the danger of it, is a problem. The United States has its hands full trying to reorganize the North Atlantic Treaty alliance. Johnson is under pressure to be nicer to Red China, which just hisses.

The best break Johnson has had so far in 1966 is that critical trouble has not broken out elsewhere around the world while the United States is bogged down in Viet Nam.

Gaulle has said that France will remain a member of the alliance in a political sense, although withdrawing from its military framework.

The ministers are also divided on whether to insist that command of the 72,000 French troops in West Germany be linked politically as well as militarily with those of other NATO nations.

The French have expressed readiness to talk with the Germans about the status of the forces in Germany. They have also offered to have the functions of these troops worked out by French military men and U.S. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, NATO's supreme commander in Europe.

The 14 other NATO members have been insisting on negotiations between France and a group of five countries representing NATO. This would avoid the French getting the Germans into direct negotiations that could affect vital interests of other allies.

Although divided on these two key questions, the 14 ministers are united on several others relating to the future of the 17-year-old alliance.

A series of seven detailed organizational reports prepared for the foreign ministers includes these recommendations: —SHAPE, or Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, the home of NATO's military command, should move from near Versailles to near Waterloo, outside the Belgian capital.

—Alongside it should be NATO's military committee, now based in Washington, which should take over some of SHAPE's planning and coordinating functions. With an international secretariat at its disposal, the military committee would be charged with fulfilling the decisions and directives of the NATO political chiefs.

—Allied Forces, Central Europe, which is also under De Gaulle's orders to quit its headquarters at Fontainebleau, should shift to Aachen, in West Germany near the Belgian frontier.

if any—in policing the selection of a constitutional assembly in South Viet Nam.

This month's Security Council president, Frank H. Corner of New Zealand, has been canvassing council members after Secretary General U Thant made it known he does not believe he has authority to send observers.

If council action is blocked, as appears likely, the United States may try to gain a special session of the General Assembly to put the matter before it.

The assembly is not scheduled to meet in regular session until September, the same month in which the elections tentatively have been set by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has suggested reconvening the Geneva conference to take up the question of election observers. But he received no reply.

See China Purge Power Struggle Among Mao Heirs

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI
TOKYO (AP) — The Peking watchers believe the current purge in Red China is the beginning of a power struggle among Mao Tse-tung's heirs.

Following the ouster of powerful Peking Mayor Peng Chen from his party post, some observers predicted a showdown between President Liu Shao-chi and Premier Chou En-lai. Their theory was that Chou had Peng fired for fear he would try to grab Chou's position as premier.

The observers said Peng had been maneuvering to become premier under President Liu's protection by blaming Chou for recent economic and diplomatic reverses.

Liu and Chou, both 67, are China's two most powerful men after Communist party chairman Mao, whose failing health is believed to have touched off the power struggle. Mao is 72 and makes few public appearances.

Those who foresee the power struggle continuing, with the purge catching even more prominent figures, say one of the next victims could be the army chief Lo Jui-ching. Lo disappeared from public view last November, one month after high-level party meetings.

Some say Lo may have disagreed with the aims and conduct of the purge, which in the early stages took the form of a campaign by army newspapers against intellectuals. If Lo was a friend of Mayor Peng, so the theory goes, then he also may have been aligned with the forces of President Liu, who suffered a setback with Peng's ouster.

Other observers see the possibility of a clash between President Liu and Defense minister Lin Biao, 57. Lin, who is also first deputy premier, recently put forth new lines of theory on how to implement Mao's teachings.

Another figure with a possible key role in the struggle is Teng Hsiao-ping, 61-year-old party secretary-general. Teng's position is not yet clear but a leading Tokyo newspaper says he, too, may have thrown his support to Premier Chou against President Liu. The newspaper, Mainichi, speculates that Teng once was close to President Liu but later shifted to Premier Chou and got Lin Biao to begin the crackdown on dissident intellectuals.

In the earlier stages of the purge, the charge of treason against Mao's teachings, revisionism and anti-party activities were pinned on a number of men who worked under Peng Chen. They included Teng's former editor of the Peking People's Daily, Vice Mayor Wu Han, writer Lao Mo-sha, Peking University President Lu Ping and his assistant Peng Pei-yun.

The new party committee for Peking announced today that it had fired Pan Chin, chief editor of two Peking newspapers, dissolved their editorial committees and named a new editorial committee to run the papers. A monthly magazine which Teng To edited was suspended for reorganization.

KERNER RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner, who has been receiving treatment for a sprained back, has been released from St. John's Hospital.

The governor said Sunday after his release that he will wear a back brace "for a few days." He said this will not keep him from working.

Kerner said he expects to be in his Springfield office today through Friday. He canceled two scheduled appearances set for today in the Chicago area. The injury apparently is an aggravation of one suffered while he was in the army. Physicians at St. John's described Kerner's injury as a "lumbar sacral sprain."

ONEIDA TRUCKER FATALLY INJURED

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — Police say the driver of a cattle truck, James Hedgpeith, 22, Oneida, Ill., was fatally injured Saturday night in an accident 6 miles south of Cape Girardeau.

Police said Hedgpeith's semi-trailer struck a bridge rail on Interstate 55 and plunged down an embankment, throwing Hedgpeith clear.

Congress Faces Heavy Load; Eyes 10 Day Vacation

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress faces a heavy schedule this week, with the promise of a long Fourth of July vacation in the offing.

If everything comes off according to plan, House Democratic Leader Carl Albert told the House last week, "it is 99 per cent certain" there will be a 10-day vacation over the Independence Day period.

House leaders plan votes this week on an assortment of legislation including an increase in the national debt ceiling, a $17.8-billion military procurement measure, the administration's Food for Freedom proposal, the annual legislative appropriation bill and a bill to change bail bond practices.

Although the administration wants the debt ceiling boosted to $332 billion, the House bill would raise the limit to only $330 billion from the present $328 billion.

The military procurement bill is $931 million more than sought by President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. The legislative appropriations bill calls for $167 million to pay congressional costs in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The less-crowded Senate docket is highlighted by voting scheduled for Wednesday on a bill to require more specific labeling and packaging of consumer commodities.

Senate debate starts today on a bill extending government controls over bank holding companies by eliminating several existing exemptions. The bill would force the breakup of several companies.

Committees in both branches will continue hammering into shape major bills dealing with the foreign aid program, civil rights, appropriations and cruise ship safety regulations.

Violent Weather Keeps Nation's Midwest Alerted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent weather kept the nation's midsection alerted today as a boundary of contrasting air masses triggered thunderstorms from Oklahoma to Wisconsin.

The U.S. Weather Bureau issued a tornado watch for portions of northern and west central Illinois, portions of southern Wisconsin and portions of extreme eastern Iowa.

Severe thunderstorms were expected in portions of extreme southeast Kansas and northeast and north central Oklahoma. Tornadoes struck Oklahoma Sunday night and did heavy damage. No deaths were reported.

Two tornadoes hop-scotched an area six blocks wide and 30 or 40 blocks long in Enid, Okla., where three persons were reported injured. A half-dozen freight cars were also blown over and numerous house trailers were overturned and large trees uprooted.

One tornado touched down at Blackwell, Okla., damaging farm homes and buildings. More than a dozen funnels were reported in northern and central Oklahoma.

With warm humid air streaming through the eastern half of the country, cooler drier air was pushing its way out of the Northwest into the Central Plains.

A few showers were scattered through Montana and rain spread over most of New England where highs were expected in the 80s and 90s.

The southern tip of Florida experienced some rain, but was more concerned with a storm developing in the Caribbean about 650 miles south-southwest of Miami. It was moving northward slowly and was expected to intensify today.

STORM BREWING IN CARIBBEAN COULD MENACE FLORIDA

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The earliest tropical storm in 15 years boiled up today in the Caribbean and the Weather Bureau said it would build to hurricane force before the day's end.

Only six days after the National Hurricane Service put its master plan for storm forecasts into operation, Alma was prowling Caribbean waters about 600 miles south-southwest of Miami. Top winds were clocked by hurricane-hunter aircraft at 55 to 60 miles an hour and forecasters said the blow would increase to hurricane force—75 miles and more—in the next 12 to 18 hours.

Not since 1951 has a tropical storm appeared on the weather map this early. In May that year, a 100-mile-an-hour hurricane threatened the Florida Coast before falling apart in cold air off the Bahamas. Alma was moving toward the north-northeast, on a path which would menace Cuba and Florida if maintained.

NEWLY FRANCHISED NEGROES TO VOTE IN MISSISSIPPI

By JAMES BONNEY

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Several earmarks of a traditional Mississippi election will be missing Tuesday when voters choose party nominees for Congress.

For the first time poll taxes will not be required. And for the first time, Republicans are staging a primary for a congressional post.

The election also will mark the first major voter test of newly registered Negro voters. Negroes have boosted their strength from 6.4 per cent three years ago to slightly over 20 per cent of the electorate. Negro voters now number 130,000 compared to 30,000 three years ago.

Three dozen Justice Department attorneys, including the federal government's chief civil rights troubleshooter, John Doar, will keep an eye on voting procedures.

This unit will be supported by 200 federal Civil Service workers who will serve as poll watchers in 24 Mississippi counties.

The increased Negro vote was not expected to be a decisive factor in this election. Rep. Trent L. Walker, a chicken farmer from Mize, who gained the Republicans first congressional victory of the century when he upset Rep. Arthur Winstead two years ago, seeks the Senate seat held by James Eastland, a Democrat.

State Rep. L.L. McAllister of Meridian, the state's first Republican legislator in modern times, and Travis Buckley of Louisa, another Republican, are bidding for Walker's post.

The predominantly Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic party is running candidates in each of the five House Democratic primary races and against Eastland.

UNEMPLOYMENT TAKES HIGHEST JUMP IN YEAR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment last month took its biggest jump in two years the Labor Department reported today, and a spokesman said it indicated a slowdown in the rate of the nation's economic growth.

But, as Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said, "There is every reason to believe that the overall (economic) movement is still upward," despite the rise in May from 3.7 to 4 per cent in the jobless rate.

The total number of unemployed rose 140,000 to 2.9 million.

Ross said the biggest part of the increase was among high school and college students putting in bids for summer jobs, although they were still in school in May and not ready to work until June.

"It doesn't prove that they are not going to get work," Ross said.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices widened their declines today after a quiet trading.

Here was the picture near the close: Volume for the day was estimated at 4.4 million shares compared with 4.4 million Friday.

Color television issues and office equipments seemed under particular pressure, some of them losing several points.

Blue chips were down from fractions to one or two points. The industrial average was down sharply.

IBM lost about 7, Xerox 5, Fairchild Camera 4, Zenith (new) 4 and Motorola 5.

SCM looked like the volume leader and was down about 3. Admiral and Polaroid were down between 3 and 4 points. Lower prices for color TV sets and reports of increasing competition in the office copying field were cited as reasons for selling in these groups.

Teledyne and Northwest Airlines were down nearly 4 each. Among blue chips, Kennecott slid about 3 1/2, Du Pont 2, Westinghouse Electric and American Can more than a point.

The top steels, autos and oils were all losers. Chrysler, U.S. Steel and Jersey Standard were down about a point each.

Wall Street's worries about tight money were underlined by the drop in foreign exchange value of the British pound to its lowest level in 18 months amid reports of a rise in the British bank rate.

News of a jump in unemployment also depressed sentiment.

Prices were mostly lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I hope I get a good picture. Why can't I get a good picture? I think I really deserve a good picture."

Robert Morse was soliloquizing about his movie career, which he believes has journeyed from one disaster to another. "Even my friends say I deserve a good picture," he continued. "They say to me, 'Bob, you're a good enough kid — a little crazy now and then, but you never hurt anybody. You really ought to have a good picture."

Morse was making these comments in his dressing room on the set of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." He is playing the role he created to immense success on Broadway, that of window-washer who ascends to presidency of a huge wickets corporation.

Stubby, straw-haired Morse began his film career — except for a featured role in the 1958 "Matchmaker" — with "Honey-moon Hotel." The film was supposed to be a triumphant debut for him and another Broadway star, Robert Goulet. It was such a bomb that it was sold to television almost before the film print was dry.

The filming of "How to Succeed" without Bobby Morse in the lead would have seemed maniacal, since his eccentric style contributed in large measure to the show's success. Yet it seemed for months that the role might fall to a movie "name."

The Mirisch brothers selected David Swift to direct and all hands agreed that the lead should be played by Robert Morse. Also cast was the other original, Rudy Vallee.

"Gee, I hope it's a good picture," said Morse earnestly. "Don't you?"

PEO Chapter Chartered At Jacksonville In Early 1871

The Illinois State Chapter of the P.E.O. Sisterhood will meet in Jacksonville June 8-10. An early chapter of P.E.O. was started in Jacksonville at the Female Academy (Presbyterian) in January, 1871.

The girls from the local Academy formed the first chapter east of the Mississippi, and the third chapter of the organization. Shown above are members of the Class of 1874 of the Academy, twelve of whom were members of the early chapter. Mrs. R. I. Willard, local P.E.O. member, has the list of members of the class, but not in the order they appear in the picture.

Those who have been identified in row one are, vertically, Helena Kaiser Pollard, Ellie John Trabue, Mary Deitrick, and Belle Sibert Todd.

Row two, first two unknown, Roxanne Goltra Catlin, last two unknown.

Row three, first unknown, Professor Thayer who was head of the Academy, last unknown.

Row four, first two unknown, Kate Irland Davis, Anna Tenbrook, Kittie Edwards Deitrick.

Row five, first two unknown,

Frank Moore Harodon, last unknown.

The remaining class members are Fannie Brundage Brinkerhoff, N. Ella Garroutte Caldwell, Alma Leech Ryder, Hessa Owen Roberts, Mary Rogers, Lucy Sims Grubb, Florence Reed Roberts, and Mary Scott Humphrey.

Anyone having any information regarding further identification of these women, please contact Mrs. Willard at 1830 Mound, phone 243-2753, or Miss Janette Powell, 1054 West Lafayette Avenue, 243-2023.

CARVED FROM CORAL

It is said that Carlsbad Caverns, N.M., was carved from a coral reef buried in ancient times. The limestone was dissolved by flowing water, hollowing out one of the world's largest caves.

RESERVE HAS POSTS AT NAVAL ACADEMY FOR ENLISTEES

Naval Reserve enlistments are now open to young men who meet the rigid basic requirements for appointment to the Naval Academy. Those qualified will be enlisted on or before June 30th as members of the Naval Reserve and then immediately recommended to the Secretary of the Navy for appointment to the Naval Academy.

Selected applicants will report to the Academy in July 1967. Some applicants will also be given the opportunity to attend the Naval Academy Preparatory School during the forthcoming school year.

Applicants must be at least 17 and less than 22 years of age on July 1, 1967 and must complete high school before that date. They must be of good moral character and qualify medically and academically.

Appointments of Reservists by the Secretary of the Navy are separate and distinct from the Congressional nominations authorized each year. Reserve applicants are fully obligated under the Reserve Program until otherwise selected and assigned.

Tests and physical examinations required for recommendation and enlistment will be conducted on an individual basis at the Naval Reserve Training Center on Lake Springfield. Interviews should be arranged immediately by calling or visiting the Center.

Clergymen Of 5 Faiths Stand At Cocktail Bar

By KEN SINGER
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Clergymen of five faiths, their backs against a cocktail bar, answered questions fired at them from the 20 young men and women in the crowded party room.

"How can I know that God exists?" asked a pink-cheeked man in a blue blazer.

"How do you find God—how do you make contact?" asked a coiffured redhead in suit and gloves.

"What about the 'God is dead' theory?" asked a blonde in a blue dress and pearl necklace.

To the clergymen the questions were not as important as the fact they were being asked here, in the window-walled recreation room overlooking the swimming pool of a 144-unit apartment building.

They are working together trying to find a means of maintaining religious values among the young adults for whom the modern apartment complex, with its bar and pool and sense of unrelenting, competitive gaiety, has become a way of life.

Panelists were the Rev. James Cashman of Holy Trinity Catholic Church, The Rev. Doug McLean of First Methodist, The Rev. Ed Courson of First Presbyterian, the Rev. William Bearden of Bethany Presbyterian, the Rev. J.R. Marcontel, a Baptist and director of student religious activity at Baylor University Medical Center, and the Rev. Robert Hobus.

The Rev. Mr. Hobus is in charge of the Apartment Ministry of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

He brought chuckles when he ceremoniously elected himself, "hearing no other motions, to the office of temporary pope of these proceedings," empowered to cut short his colleagues if they spoke too long.

The affair was advertised by post-card invitations and by this mimeographed message posted on mail slots: "Fact-finding forum for folks like you—Toll House rec room—ask your questions. Share your views."

The give-and-take talk of God and church lasted for two hours in the balloon-decorated room.

Less than half the audience resided in the apartment. Others came from other apart-

TINIER AND TINIER--Miniature Marvels of Electronics

As things are now progressing it may become, eventually, the INVISIBLE world of electronics. From the vacuum tube, it moved to the transistor, then the printed circuit through steady miniaturization. This is the latest step. Where most electronic firms have developments in this field, Westinghouse claims the first plant ever set up to manufacture microscopic electronic circuits. At Elkridge, Md., employees peer through microscopes to do their work on silicon chips. Some are no bigger than the ball on a ballpoint pen but become integrated circuits. Key is a chemical process creating impurities in the silicon to form diodes, transistor junctions, resistive and capacitive areas. Blue-collar workers are not being supplanted by white-collar workers as this miniaturization develops throughout the electronic field. They are replaced by white-all-over workers. Most of them wear surgery-type clothing because the work must be done in ultraclean surroundings.

In this enlarged photo, an ant straddles a number of integrated circuits, each performing functions of 50 to 100 conventional electronic components.

An electron microscope peers through a microminiature chip. Several layers may be put together to create extremely complex circuitry.

Hair-thin gold wires are attached as one of the final steps and each is encased in a "flatpack" in order to make it easy for handling in manufacturing processes.

An oddity in the manufacturing process, in addition to the use of microscopes instead of eyes, is this vacuum pencil. The tiny chips are so small they cannot be handled individually otherwise.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Why does one news item seem to send the stock market plunging or skyrocketing? Why does a similar item on some other day leave the market unmoved and bored?

Perhaps more important to many a would-be stock market insider, how come that so often Wall Street seems to have reacted to a news item before most people are even aware of it?

Stock brokers will tell you that public reaction to national or international developments or to corporate reports often is predictable enough, but in recent weeks has just as often seemed whimsical.

As to seeming to be in the know first, sometimes stock traders may have had a preview because of news leaks.

This year the public has seemed more than usually sensitive to news reports. Brokers say the mood of investors switched quickly from apathy to jitters. For weeks investors had shrugged off basic developments in the economy. Then they reacted instantly to one after another news break.

An official of the Securities and Exchange Commission has noted that today's investor is so sensitive to corporate news that often even a seemingly innocuous statement by management can result in a tremendous overreaction in the price of the company's stock.

Often a major change in stock prices causes a chain reaction by setting off stop orders. That is, investors have told brokers to buy if an issue rises to a certain level or to sell if it drops to a predetermined level.

Stock traders also jump in to take profits by selling when they are jittery, just as they were prone to take chances by buying when they were cocky.

Then — suddenly — the market goes quiet again. Traders are back where they were before — uncertain. They aren't sure about what the Viet Nam war may hold for business; about the chances of more inflation; about the revival of tax increase talk; about what the balance of payments might do to the government's policy towards business; about the future trend of profit margins.

But they will talk about it — and spread rumors — and suddenly jump back into the market as bulls or as bears.

CHAPIN ELEMENTARY PICNIC MAY 26

CHAPIN — The Chapin Grade school annual picnic was held Thursday, May 26 with a sack lunch on the playground.

Bruce Helms and John Nienhiser were captains for the second and third grade baseball teams, and Jim Nergenh and Robert Paul were captains for the fourth, fifth and sixth grade game. Both of these boys' games were supervised by Mrs. Agnes Tiemann with Ruth Anderson scoring.

Mrs. Lillian Smith supervised a kickball game of fourth, fifth, and sixth grade girls with Cindy Lakamp and Marsha Staake captains. Umpires were Randy Taylor, Robert Gobbel, and Robert Paul.

Mrs. Aufdenkamp and Mrs. Lawson were in charge of the races. Winners were Mike Patton and Cheryl Burgess, first grade; Jimmy Hamm and Sandra Edwards, second grade; Jack Odale and Denise Wardle, third grade.

Tom Griffin and Nariam Surratt, fourth grade; Jim Nergenh and Cindy Lakamp, fifth grade; and John Nienhiser and Mary White, sixth grade.

AT STATE MEET

Clarence Richardson and John Le Suer are delegates from the Jacksonville Exchange club to the state convention June 10-12 at the Flamingo Motel in Alton. Also attending will be Milton Edge, Gene Wischnik, Tony Niccum, and Clair Hutchison. Members will be guests of the "Donnell" Aircraft company for a plant tour, golf, dining, dancing, and a banquet.

fleets of supersonic transports are hammering this 2,300-home desert community with deliberately generated booms and will continue for the next three months. Haselden Suggests Guidelines For Life At IC Graduation

Contemporary man must overcome the dual human problem to become 'fully man,' Dr. Kyle Haselden told the 89-member Illinois College graduating class during commencement exercises held in the campus grove Sunday afternoon.

Fifty-eight Bachelor of Arts and 31 Bachelor of Science degrees were conferred during the ceremony, which was attended by nearly 1300 alumni parents, students, and friends of the college.

In his address entitled "This Age—This Life," Haselden illustrated our age as, "a time of global change and instability," in which man has become the inheritor and participant in a process that has caused man to become his worst enemy.

Out Of Control
So great is this self-caused trend, the editor of The Christian Century told the graduates, that, "imponderable movements and counter movements are sweeping man he knows not where." It is no longer what we do with the bomb, Haselden summarized, but rather what the bomb can do to us.

He illustrated man's increasing power to control his destiny as a potential threat to his existence and a block to his becoming "fully man," but what does it mean to become "fully man," and how can this trend be reversed?

Dr. Haselden here pointed to the "human problem": a dual question which asks how man is to survive physically, and in surviving, to become more than an animal. "Man must know that he is something more than an animal—he is a spiritual being capable of wonder, worship, mercy, love and communion—and he must push this capability toward its ultimate capacity."

"Now—You"

Admittedly, and by necessity dealing in abstractions, the speaker moved to bring the individual into his presented thesis. Haselden told the graduates that "This Age—This Life" is now the 20th century, and you, the individual, and it is your task to gain a meaningful and gratifying life during an age which has to be described in such awesome terms.

The task of gaining a full life can be achieved, he added, but only through a realization of history, the acquisition of guidelines for life, and deep human involvement.

Regarding the need for history, Haselden stated, "Man is the constant factor in an incessant history. We are yesterday's tomorrow back to the beginning of time; and we are tomorrow's yesterday until the end of age. That continuity cannot be ignored and we do so at our peril."

The necessity for, "reliable points from which to take our bearings in a bewildered world," was Haselden's next criteria for becoming fully man. Old norms, he said, are being replaced during our time, everything is in flux, and many tell us there are no fixed, absolute and universal guides for the living of this life.

Need For Guides
He added: "We are told that man has come of age, is on his own and can depend on himself for everything, but this alternative is anarchy, and we can not afford to be intellectual and spiritual anarchists. Recover the marks by which a full man lives," he instructed.
